Foreword

JUST as History is sometimes as pleasant in recollection as in the making, we hope that these pages may help to keep in your memories, the days, bright or shadowed, which have become the Past instead of the Present.

Dedication

IN a history, there is always someone who makes the bright days stand out against the faint-shadowed days that sometimes come. And so we dedicate our 1926 Flastacowo to one who has helped to make these days more pleasant.

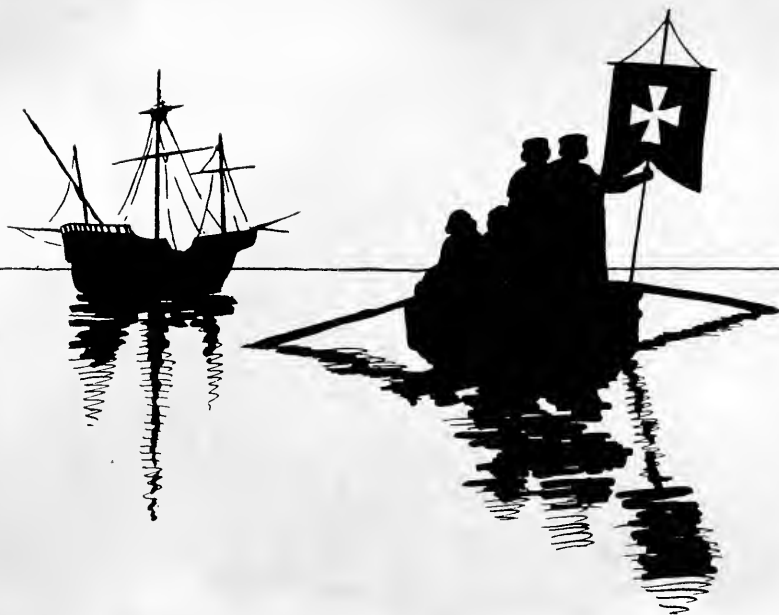

To

Miss Anna Mae Tracy

WHY GIRLS GO SOUTH

Last Episode: Spotlights and Wedding Bells

Drawings by RALPH BARTON

SOCIETY NOTE: The career of Judy Revell continues to puzzle the soothsayers of Mermaid fair. Admirers she has in squadrons, but her mere successful marriage is much too early an accomplishment to interest a deb of Judy's class and talent. In fact, she sent Winnie Valente packing from Palm Beach when she learned that a Florida would have given her the best Charleston step to get him. Since she has divided her time generously between her two admirers, Bennett, that charming young fellow who has thrilled us all with his stage lover. However, she have not been able to keep her Toolchest Playhouse has more notch to her record of varied conquests.

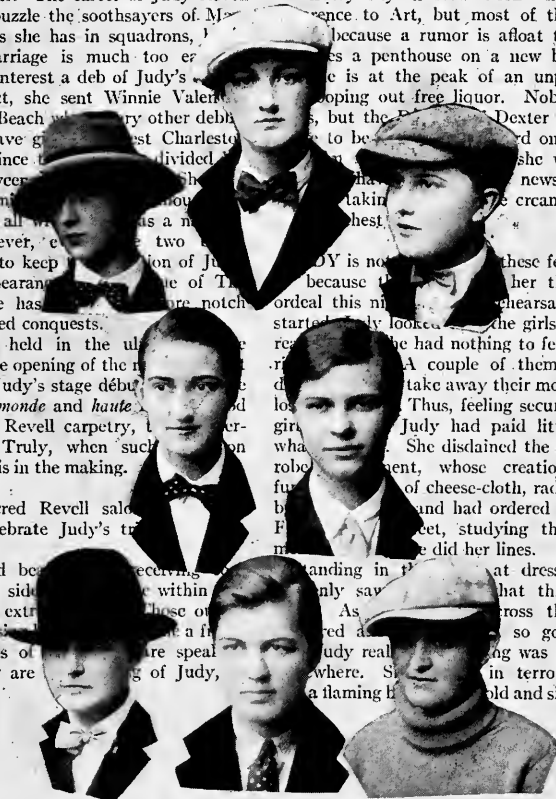

A reception was held in the Revell home after the opening of the Revue to celebrate Judy's stage debut first time, the haut monde and haute together the sacred Revell carpet, the presence to Thespis. Truly, when such an occur, social history is in the making.

SCENE: The sacred Revell saloon reception to celebrate Judy's triumph theater.

Judy, flushed and beaming with gratulations from all sides, is shot is praising her extra-ordinary ear-shot are not praising her around the outskirts of the truth—but they are any rate.

"Everybody in New York" had come, to do homage to Art, but most of them are leaving because a rumor is afloat that a man who has a penthouse on a new building in Park is at the peak of an unparalleled career and is popping out free liquor. Nobody knows who Dexter believes his first one of the waiters she was there. The news about Jake, is taking the cream of talent from these fellow artists go, because they have through a rough ordeal this morning. The girls of the cast, and she had nothing to fear in the way of A couple of them had a certain take away their monocles, and they Thus, feeling secure in the field of Judy had paid little attention to what She disdained the Toolchest wardrobe, whose creations were being of cheese-cloth, radiator paint, and had ordered her gowns from Feet, studying them with much did her lines.

At dress rehearsal, she that threw her into a As she crossed the stage, there so gorgeously lovely Judy really was radically wrong, in terror, and bumped a flaming gold and silver robe de style

A Lovely Bit of Melody

Lovely Lady

WALTZ

Music by
CARL RUPP

Valse moderato

The musical score is presented in two systems: piano accompaniment and ukulele arrangement. The piano part uses a 3/4 time signature and includes dynamic markings such as mf, f, p-mf, and mf-f. The ukulele part is arranged in G-C-E-A tuning and includes chord diagrams for various chords. A central photograph of a woman in a black dress and white gloves is superimposed over the score, appearing as if she is looking through a hole in the paper.

The musical score is presented in a collage style. A central photograph of a woman in a dark dress with a white collar, holding a large teddy bear and a small character with large eyes, is superimposed over the piano accompaniment. The score includes vocal lines with lyrics: "all by my I nev-er", "on hur", and "en ev-'ry- now my". Chord diagrams for D7 and G are shown. The tempo is marked "Moderato".
